"Mr. Webster acquired a good sound education. At the age of nineteen, by his own choice, and through the efforts of friends of the family, he was made a sailor on board a whaler, and started on an extended cruise which took him around the world. For four years Mr. Webster followed the sea, but returned in 1847 to his home, his parents meantime having moved to Orangeville, N. Y. For several years after his marriage he followed the vocation of a school teacher, with much success. In 1861 Mr. Webster united with the Baptist church at Dale, of which he has always remained a faithful member. For three terms he efficiently served the town as supervisor, and for fifteen years he held the office of justice of the peace. For many years also he had acted as a clerk on the election board."

June 5, 1907, a family social gathering was held to celebrate the 58th wedding anniversary of the above couple, three miles west of Pittsford in the town of Henrietta, both life-long and highly respected residents of this vicinity. They are a remarkable couple in respect to longevity, activity, and health. The parents of both Mr. and Mrs. Peets came from Massachusetts and settled here during the early history of the town. Mrs. Peets was a daughter of Elijah Webster and was born in the house in which she now lives; indeed, she has spent almost her entire life there. She is still a busy housewife, employing her time doing all the work, including washing, ironing and butter making. Mr. Peets works on the farm every day, drives fine horses and all last summer and fall worked a three-horse team. He prides himself on being able to keep up with the young men in harvesting. Both will reach another mile-stone in their lives on June 24th.

"Mr. and Mrs. Peets served a splendid supper, covers being laid for thirty-three. At the first table were seated Mr. and Mrs. Peets with their four children, Mrs. Willett Chase, of Henrietta; Henry Peets, of Brighton; Charles Peets of Henrietta, and Mrs. Frank Lusk, of Pittsford. At the second table were grandchildren, Mrs. Frank Abbott and Frank Chase, of Henrietta; Harry, Charles and Lemuel Lusk, of Pittsford, and Lemuel Peets of Henrietta, and at the third table were the great grandchildren, Edna, Gertrude and Florence Lusk, children of Harry Lusk; Charles, Francis and Franklin Lusk, sons of Charles Lusk, and Earl and Howard Chase, of Henrietta, sons of Frank Chase. Those who are married were accompanied by their husbands and wives."

Both died in Henrietta, N. Y., he, May 22, 1909, and she, Dec. 2, 1910. CHILDREN: (Peets) (First born at Pittsford; the others in town of Henrietta) Helen Estella, May 22, 1850; Addie Lunette, Meh. 15, 1852; Henry Francis, Oct. 5, 1853; Charles Wilton, July 1, 1864.

Franklin B. Lusk died Aug. 25, 1910. "His father was Herman Lusk; his grandfather, Stephen, and his great grandfather, John Lusk, were also well known and prominent citizens here, and the latter and his son came to the Genesee country in 1787. They came from Connecticut by way of Canandaigua over an Indian trail and brought stock with them. They passed through Pittsford and settled near the head of Irondequoit Bay. There they built a log house and lived three years, seeing no white men. In 1790 they returned to Connecticut, to bring other members of the family, and in 1791 purchased a large tract of land here, much of which remains in the Lusk family."

He leaves a wife and three sons, Harry, Charles, Lemuel, all of Pittsford, N. Y., and seven grandchildren.

David Webster Kenyon crossed the plains for the California Gold Mines in 1853. Though often assaulted by the Indians, no lives were lost and he arrived safely. In 1858 he went to the Frazier River Gold Mines in British Columbia, and remained three or four months, selling provisions, etc., at prevailing prices, viz.: $1. per pound. He then returned to Portland, Oregon, where he remained till 1859, going then to his present home, Hayes, Washington. He has been twice elected Justice of the Peace.

In 1852 the young girl who afterward became his wife crossed the plains with her parents. Rev. Daniel White Gardner was the leader of the train. They were six months crossing, imperiled by Indians and cholera, but safely reached Hayes, Clark Co., Washington. For a time the hostility of the Indians prevented even the planting of a garden, but at length the trouble ceased, and Hayes has since been their home.

He m. (?) July 11, 1904, at Berkeley, Cal., Mrs. Alwilda A. Alpaugh, nee Reed, b. July 7, 1849, at Auburn, Ohio.

He was raised on a farm and worked with his father in the wagon shop, where he learned blacksmithing. He learned the carpenter's trade outside the shop. He enlisted in Company F, 4th Michigan Infantry in the Fall of 1861, and served in that Regiment and in Company C, 1st Michigan Infantry, as a private, until the expiration of his term, Sep. 10, 1864, when he was discharged near Petersburg, Va. He took part in all the battles his command was engaged in, and was slightly wounded in the seven days' fight near Richmond, Va. His Regiment was in the 2d Brigade, 1st Division, 5th A. C. After his discharge he returned to Michigan and bought a steam saw-mill which he ran until the Spring of 1866, when he sold out and moved to Oakland, Cal., where he bought a few acres of land, in what is now Berkeley, where he lived until 1883, when he removed to Sacramento, Cal. He has been employed at Sacramento on the inside work of passenger cars, for the C. P. & S. P. R. R. Co. He is a member of Summer Post, No. A. R., at Sacramento.

Noah Norton Webster (see portrait) writing to the Hudson, Mich. Post, says, "I like to get news from Hudson and the surrounding country, my boyhood home. I enlisted there in Co. F. of the old Fourth in 1861. Soon after returning following the war, I came out here to Berkeley, Cal., at that time B. was new and all a farming country. Years later I got Webster street opened, which was named for me, so I have made my mark here, if not in the army.

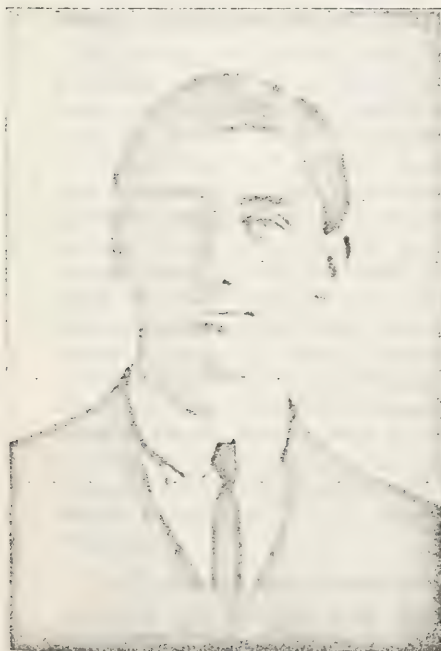

I had two sons. Both were killed. The last, after going through the war at Manila, was killed at Cripple Creek, Col. (see portrait); as noble and fine a young man as was in that army, so it was for his honor and name, and also my father's and mother's, and also my own, that I presented the Norton-Webster Park to the City of Hudson, thinking it would benefit more people that way, than I could in almost any other way. It will be a pleasure spot and a credit to Hudson, and an honor of our family name.

Five of us enlisted and went out from Hudson. My last boy went from Berkeley, Cal., and returned with honors. He was an electric and steam engineer." Hoped that Hudson would improve Park. Editorial: Noah Norton was Webster's grandfather on his mother's side; was an officer in war of 1812, and also Mexican war. Was a pioneer in Cal., and 1849 discovered the Cole mines at Mt. Diablo, and built the first house in Nortonville, a town named after him. His years were spent with his grandson, Noah, at whose house he died.

His wife died at Sacramento, Cal., Nov. 5, 1889. He resided '93 at 2627 Q St., Sacramento. Res. 1904, 802 Madison St., Oakland, Cal. 1913, 2500 Webster St., Berkeley, Cal. CHILDREN: (All b. at Oakland, Alameda Co., Cal.) Ida May, May 28, 1870; Galinda Castro, April 28, 1874, d. Oakland, Aug. 31, 1874; Norton Allen, March 3, 1880.

(2) Norton Allen, a steam and electric engineer, was killed in a mine disaster at Cripple Creek, Colorado, Feb. 4, 1906. Unmarried. He was a proficient engineer and helped to build and operate one of the largest electric plants and railroads in Oakland and Berkeley, Cal. The end.

4. George Austin Webster, b. Dec. 19, 1843, enlisted soon after opening of war, probably in a Michigan Regiment. Served about one year and then enlisted in September, 1863, in 11th Michigan Cavalry, and served as Corporal and Sergeant to close of war, and was discharged in August, 1865. After the war he was in the employ of Michigan Central R. R., and lost his life Feb. 10, 1875. He did not marry. The end.

He began, in early life, the trade of carpenter (a trade in which a number of his family was engaged), later studied law with Mr. L. O. Aiken of Moravia, Cayuga Co., N. Y., but on becoming a communicant of the Episcopal Church, he began the study of Theology with the Rev. William D. Wilson, a Prof. of Hobart College, Geneva, N. Y., in whose family he lived for three years. He was ordained Deacon by the Rt. Rev. De Lancy, Bishop of Western New York, and commenced his ministry at Christ's Church, Jordan, Onondaga Co., N. Y., where he officiated as Rector for eleven years. When the war of the Rebellion broke out, he was appointed Chaplain of the 27th Regiment of N. Y. Vol's. Nov. 1, 1862, was present at the battle of Fredericksburg, and was discharged from the service May 1, 1863.

He then returned to his old Church, built and consecrated a new Church, and then accepted a call to St. John's Parish, Cornwall, Orange Co., N. Y. After a rectorship of thirteen months, he returned to the Diocese of Western New York, and took charge of the Parish of Zion Church, Palmyra, Wayne Co., N. Y. He retained the rectorship of this parish for eighteen years and five months, when he removed to the Diocese of Albany, N. Y., in the Spring of 1884, making his residence at Greenbush, Rensselaer Co., but officiating as a missionary, by appointment of the Bishop, to the time of his death.

From early manhood he was an ardent and faithful member of the Masonic fraternity, for a number of years holding office in the Grand Lodge of the State of New York. At the time of his death he held the office of Grand Chaplain of the Grand Encampment of Knight's Templar of the United States. The Templars have erected a costly monument to his memory in the cemetery at Palmyra, N. Y.

He was assigned to duty on the Adriatic Station and detailed to the U. S. S. Ashuelot, in March, 1882, and was on duty on that vessel when it was wrecked off Lamock Island, and was commended by his superior officer for coolness and bravery in remaining at his post until the fires were put out by the rushing water, and until the ship was abandoned by nearly all the rest of the officers and crew. Soon after this a reduction in the engineer force of the Navy threw Webster and many others out of service. Although the highest court of the land decided that the officers discharged at this time were entitled to their positions and the most of them were reinstated, Webster, who in the meantime had been employed as mechanical engineer and draughtsman at the Townsend Furnace at Albany, N. Y., declined to accept reinstatement and sent in his resignation as a U. S. Naval officer.

March 26, 1845, at that place. He had been for some years at Kettle Falls, Wash., but was killed, as see following account:

"Kettle Falls, Wash., Nov. 10, 1897. Yesterday another name was added to the fearful list of unfortunates mistaken for deer. Some ten days since Mr. Jay W. Fuller of Olean, N. Y., accompanied by an old man named Vanderpool, went on a hunt for deer into the mountains to the Southeast of this place, and, yesterday, Nov. 9, while hunting on a mountain some five miles distant from the town of Kettle Falls, they separated, agreeing to meet on a mountain spur a mile distant; and, when after a time Mr. Vanderpool caught sight of his comrade standing under the drooping branches of a small fir tree, he promptly mistook him for a deer and shot him through the heart with a fifty caliber needle gun. The unfortunate man fell dead without a struggle. This occurred about one p. m. Horrified at the awful sight, the old man hurried back to town and reported the sad affair, and a party of four of us, guided by the sorrowing survivor, started about dark for the body. Driving to the foot of the mountain, we left the team and climbed up the steep mountain side through six inches of soft snow about a mile and a half further up, and by the light of two lanterns improvised a stretcher and after an hour and a half of toil, such as none of us could well repeat, reached the wagon, and regained the town at midnight."

The family sent for the body which reached them Nov. 18, 1897, and the funeral was held the 20th. He was buried in the family lot at Black Creek, N. Y. The widow and her son reside, 1914, at Rochester, N. Y. CHILDREN: (Fuller) Webster Marshall, b. Black Creek, N. Y., Feb. 26, 1871. The end.

SECTION 1.—Children of Solomon Savage (Minor, Ashbel, Jonathan, Jonathan, Dea. Jonathan, Robert, Gov. John) and Polly (Kellogg) Webster of Laona, Winnebago Co., Ill.

1. Lydia Almina Webster, b. Sep. 11, 1828, m. Jan. 27, 1846, at Rockford, Winnebago Co., Ill., Duncan James Stewart, a retired farmer, b. Nov. 6, 1823, at Delhi, Delaware Co., N. Y., son of Alexander McGregor and Polly (Flower) Stewart. She d. Aug. 1, 1872, at Durand, Winnebago Co., Ill., and he res. 1905, at 508 Fisher Ave., Rockford, Ill., where he died Nov. 18, 1905.

The following was said of him in the public press: "Mr. Stewart was born in Delhi, Delaware county, N. Y., November 6, 1823, and with his parents resided in New York state during his boyhood. But in his twentieth year the Stewart and Webster families moved to the West, journeying the entire distance from Wyoming county to Illinois in covered wagons. They arrived the day on which Mr. Stewart came to his majority, and he has often mentioned the disappointment he felt in not being able to cast his first vote in the presidential election by which Polk became the nation's executive. After several years in business in Rockford, Mr. Stewart moved to Durand to engage in farming, the majority of his land being a government claim. During the war he was supervisor for Durand township, and in this capacity was called upon to watch over the interest of the widows and families of the soldiers who died in battle. In 1872 he was elected to the general assembly by the republicans and served one term with Andrew Ashton. Though an earnest advocate of temperance he never allied himself with the prohibition party."

1. James Abel Webster, b. July 31, 1837, a farmer and merchant, mar. April 4, 1860, at Orangeville, Wyoming Co., N. Y.; Martha Jane, dau. of David and Adaline (Thomas) McWethy.

He received his education at Warsaw Academy and Rochester Commercial College. While a lad he was ambitious to earn and save money. His first eighty acres of land were bought with money saved from his little speculations. At the age of twenty-one he went into partnership with father, in dry goods business, at Warsaw, N. Y. After his father's death, he carried on a general merchandise store at Wethersfield Springs, Wyoming Co., N. Y., for several years. In 1868 he removed to Nashua, Iowa, where he carried on a similar business, and also that of real estate dealer for five years, when he returned to Warsaw, N. Y., where he is at present engaged in trade. He was elected Supervisor of Warsaw, for six successive terms, and for two terms was chairman of the Board. In 1880, he was appointed agent of the Onondaga Indians for western New York, and has had charge of the distribution of the annuities to the Indians. Was postmaster four years during President Harrison's term.

June 1, 1838, at Attica, N. Y. They (the parents) were from Newbury, Vt., and were among the original settlers on the Holland Purchase.

When two years old her parents removed to Warsaw, N. Y., where she (Helen) attended the District School and Academy, and then finished her studies at the State Normal School, Albany, N. Y., graduating Jan. 20, 1862, the youngest of a class of thirty-seven, being one of the five appointed to read essays. Immediately after graduation she began teaching taking higher mathematics as a specialty. She was preceptress of Genesee and Wyoming Seminary, at Alexandria, N. Y., for a short time, then in same position at Carey Collegiate Seminary, Oakfield, N. Y., for two years. In January, 1864, she became Vice-principal of Cottage Hill Seminary, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., remaining there one year, when she accepted a similar position in the "Mary Institute," Carlisle, Pa., where her sister was teaching, and where she remained four years, and then resigned.

He (James W., Jr.) was educated at the Common Schools at his home, and at Genesee and Wyoming Seminary, Alexandria, N. Y., and at Rock River University, Mt. Morris, Ills. Studied law with Comstock and Healy, at Warsaw, N. Y., and was admitted to the bar at Buffalo, N. Y., in '62. He commenced the practice of law at Warsaw, N. Y., but afterwards settled at Midland City, Mich., where he continued his practice until 1871, when he engaged in lumbering and land business, and is still engaged in the latter. He has taken an active part in politics in Midland County. Has been chairman of the Republican County Committees, and has held several important local offices, such as Supervisor, Justice of the Peace, &c. and in 1879, was elected to the State Senate by a large majority.

They resided, '84, at Midland, do Co., Mich. She d. there July 14, 1897. CHILDREN: (Cochrane) Charles Edward, b. at Midland, Mich., March 20, 1875. The end.

4. Lydia Lucelia Webster, (see portrait) b. Apr. 22, 1846, mar. June 20, 1870, at Wethersfield Springs, Wyoming Co., N. Y., Rev. James Lee Gillogly, a minister of the Episcopal Church, son of Matthew and Catharine (Smythe) Gillogly, b. Dec. 23, 1813, at Lancaster, Erie Co., N. Y.

She, after receiving a common school and academic education at Warsaw, N. Y., entered the State Normal School, at Albany, N. Y., at the age of sixteen, and graduated July 9, 1863, being the youngest of her class. In October, 1864, she accepted a position as teacher of mathematics and vocal music in the "Mary Institute," a boarding school for young ladies at Carlisle, Pa., where she remained for six years. Declining the position of Vice-principal, she severed her connection with the school June 24, 1870.

He graduated first in his class at St. Stephens College, Annandale, N. Y., in 1867, and at Berkley Divinity School, Middletown, Conn., in May, 1870, and was soon after ordained Deacon by Bishop Williams, of Connecticut, and in 1871, was ordained Priest by Bishop Tuttle. On the day of their marriage they started for Ogden, Utah Territory, where he had been appointed a missionary, and where she was closely identified with him in all his labors in the heart of Mormondom during the remainder of his life. When they arrived in Ogden, a city of 6,000 souls, there was not another minister there outside of the Mormon Church. Few can realize the labor and courage required to overcome the obstacles thrown in the way by the Mormons. At first the waiting room of the Railroad Depot was used to hold services, and while prayers were being said in one part of the room, with trains passing back and forth on either side, talking, singing and even swearing might be heard in the other part. After occupying various buildings for Church purposes, in 1874, a Hammesley family, of New York City donated $10,000, in memory of their deceased daughter for building a handsome stone Church there. The Church society continued to flourish and through the efforts of Mr. Gillogly, a commodious two story brick school house was erected to continue the school which he early started there. He also from time to time started Mission Churches and schools in the adjoining towns. The success of the Church work cannot be better shown than by a comparison of the reports sent by Mr. Gillogly, to Bishop Tuttle, at the end of the first and at the end of the tenth year of their labors. The first report shows, five communicants, one Sunday School teacher, eighteen Sunday School scholars, one day school teacher, and thirty-five scholars, and value of Church property $60.00. The tenth report shows, 115 communicants (many others had removed), eighteen Sunday School teachers and 335 Sundays School scholars,—three day schools with seven teachers, and 370 scholars, and value of Church property $38,900.

Mrs. Gillogly is a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution, and was the first Regent of Cofade Oro Chapter of Alameda, Cal. She belongs to the Society of Americans of Royal Descent, the Colonial Dames of America, the Descendants of American Governors, and the California State Genealogical Society. In the year 1908 she was appointed by Bishop Nichols one of six delegates from his diocese to the Pan Anglican Congress in London.

April 9, 1843, at Truxton, Cortland Co., N. Y. Horace R. Wheat had two brothers in Keeney Settlement, Salmon or Solomon, who m. Rosanna Hills, and Richard, who m. a Whitmarsh.

He was educated in the Seminary, Cazenovia, N. Y., and took a course in the Bryant and Stratton Commercial College of Syracuse, N. Y., including telegraphy, supporting himself in the meantime by teaching. He was for many years teacher of the District school in his native valley, afterward in the Melvin, Orleans Co., N. Y., Academy; Homer, N. Y., Academy; when, Jan. 1, 1876, he entered upon the duties of School Commissioner, 2d District, Cortland County, N. Y., which office he held three terms of three years each. He was also much of the time engaged in farming and brick-making. From Homer, N. Y., on July 26, 1892, he removed to Sparrows Point, Md., where he was, '93, still employed in the Sparrows Point Store Co.

He served in the war of Rebellion, enlisting Oct. 25, 1861, in the 61st Regiment N. Y. S. V., and within a week was mustered into the service on Staten Island, N. Y., as 1st Lieut. of Co. I, though his commission from Gov. Morgan was not received until Dec. 29th following. For a time he was detailed for recruiting service in Central New York. Returning to his Regiment, he was taken with measles, followed with typhoid-pneumonia which compelled his resignation. His discharge was received at Camp California, Jan. 29, 1862. Both are deceased prior to 1914.

Homer, Cortland Co., N. Y., where he was buried, and where, 1914, his widow still resided. She celebrated her 100th birthday, March 3, 1911. She died June 12, 1914, aged 109 years, 3 months and 10 days.

After his conversion, he became a member of the Ononda Conference. Among his pre-eminent qualifications were the gift of song, an impressive address, clear views of truth, and a complete mastery of the great doctrines of his Church. In the years of his activity few excelled him in evangelistic power. He was a chosen friend in trouble, and in funeral services, was a veritable "son of consolation." He was incisive in analysis, conclusive in argument, felicitous, but not ornamental, in rhetoric. Every sermon showed both thought and research. He was a broad reader; perhaps more so than a merely technical scholar. The loss of his only son in the late war, was a blow from which he never recovered. The latter part of his life his health was delicate. Over the sedateness of his character was always a ripple of playfulness. The end of life came suddenly.

His appointments were as follows: 1840, Pompey; 1841, Otsele; 1842-'43, East Hamilton; 1844-'45, Woodstock; 1846-'47, Tully; 1848-'49, Lenox; 1850, Middleville and Westville; 1851, Cuyler; 1852-'53, Preble; 1854-'55, Marathon; 1856-'57, McGrawville; 1858-'59, Scott; 1860-'61, Keeney Settlement.

(3) John Wesley Fox enlisted in August, 1862, as a private soldier in Company I, 149th Regiment, New York State Vol. Infantry. He passed through eight general engagements without harm, but was killed in an early evening skirmish, on the picket line near Big Shanty, Ga., June 15, 1864, as the army was pressing toward Atlanta. His Captain, D. J. Lindsay, in a letter to M. R. Webster, announcing his death, said: "A braver man never was in the 149th New York Vols. But last night while we were engaging the enemy, he fell and expired; shot through the side, or hip; the ball passed up into his bowels. We found him this morning and interred him as best we could. There are now five others buried beside him. It is somewhere in the neighborhood of Big Shanty. I learn that the place is called Golgotha." Writing from Raccoon Ford, Va., Sep. 22, 1863, he, John Wesley Fox wrote to M. R. Webster. "Just think, it will be one year ago to-morrow morning since I left Syracuse for 'Dixie.' Does it seem possible?" His remains were buried where he fell, and tho' a board temporarily marked the spot, decay has no doubt long since removed it.

He died Sep. 2, 1912, at the residence of his niece, Mrs. Lewis Hamlin, Corning, on the Valley-View Farm, near Cortland, N. Y., and is buried beside his first wife at Homer, N. Y. CHILDREN: (By 1st m.) (Fox) Fred Duane, b. at Keeney Settlement, N. Y., March 29, 1852.

Rev. Warren Duane Fox was one of the seven children of Edmund and Sally (Cadwell) Fox, of Keeney Settlement, where he was born. He attained the age of 85 years and 47 days. He was sixth in the order of his birth, and also sixth in the order of his death. One sister, Mrs. Daphne Fosmer, of Cortland, in her ninety-third year, survived him, and was present at the funeral. The average age of the five sisters and brothers who preceded Mr. Fox to the spirit world was nearly seventy-seven years, and all were above seventy-five. He was one of three brothers all ministers. The eldest, Rev. Wesley Fox, died in Homer, Dec. 22, 1889, in his 77th year. Rev. Reuben Cadwell Fox, the youngest, died at Onondaga Valley, N. Y., Nov. 3, 1909, in his 79th year. This triumvirate of highly-gifted men, made full proof of their ministry in and about central New York, Wesley for forty-nine years, and the others for fifty-four years each. All had the special gift of song, but Warren excelled. Indeed few have a voice of such carrying quality as was his. A clear tenor, so full that it inundated choir or congregation, its purity and sweetness charming the ear, while it led often to the highest inspiration, and always to the devoutest worship. He entered the ministry more reluctantly than his two brothers. Both preceded him, but at thirty-one years of age, after spending some time in Cazenovia seminary in special preparation, Warren followed, uniting with the Oneida conference at Cooperstown, N. Y., April 26, 1858. He was one of a class of twelve, all of whom he outlived.

He received his ordination as deacon at the hands of Bishop Baker in April, 1860, and elder, by Bishop Ames, April 29, 1862. His fields of labor were: 1858, Lenox Circuit, with Rev. James Gutsel as senior preacher; 1859, Georgetown; 1861, Canasarega; 1862, Pompey; 1864, Locust; 1866, (readmitted) Amber; 1867, McGrawville; 1871, Newfield; 1872, Tully; 1874, Cincinnatus; 1877, New Woodstock; 1880, Preble; 1883, (second term), McGrawville; 1886, to the time of his death, supernumerary or superannuated.

March 7, 1859, he was united in marriage with Miss Ann Eliza Parkell, of Clockville, N. Y. They celebrated their golden wedding March 7, 1900, at their home in Preble, and received the congratulations of their widely-scattered friends and relatives with a purse of gold and a silver tea set. Nine years later, June 3, 1909, she died.

He was in the best sense an evangelist pastor for, while his teaching and preaching were well calculated to build up the religious character of his people, and the churches which he served, his supreme power was in awakening the communities where he preached and in securing the conversion of men. To his gift of song was added a charm of personal appeal, which won young and old. He was very democratic in spirit and mingled freely with all, and was equally the friend of all.

Fred Duane, son of Rev. Warren Duane and Eliza Ann (Parkill) Fox, a druggist, mar. (1) Sep. 15, 1875, at Cincinnatus, N. Y., Emily Katharine Martin, dau. of Frederick and Penelope (Dewey) Martin, b. Nov. 6, 1865, at Independence, Iowa. He has resided at Colorado Springs, Colo.; Mantau Springs, Colo., and 1913, was living at 2307 Colfax Ave., East Denver, Colo. CHILDREN: (By second mar.) (Born in Manitou, Col.) Edna Florence, Dec. 26, 1894; Neva Villette, March 9, 1897; Clara Mayne, May 12, 1900. The end.

7. Rev. Reuben Cadwell Fox, b. Jan. 14, 1831, a minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church, mar. Jan. 7, 1856, at Groton, N. Y., Mary Ann, dau. of Pliny and Sarah (Eldridge) Sykes, b. at Groton, Tompkins Co., N. Y., Jan. 28, 1831.

He was educated in the common schools, and Cazenovia Seminary, entering the latter in 1851: followed by a brief course in the Concord, New Hampshire, Biblical Institute, under the presidency of Dr. John Dampster, its founder. He united with Oneida Conference, July 31, 1855, at a session held at New York Mills, a suburb of Utica, N. Y., Bishop E. R. Ames, presiding. He had already served Perryville, N. Y., the previous year, and thereafter was pastor as follows: 1855, North Lansing; 1856, '57, McLean and Peruville; 1858, '59, Tully; 1860, '61, Groton; 1862, Asbury, near Ithaca, N. Y.; 1863, '64, Fleming; 1865, '67, Ledyard; 1868, Newfield. At this time, by a change in boundaries, he became a member of Central New York Conference: 1869, '71, Manlius; 1872, '73, Oneida; 1874, '75, Waterloo; 1876, '78, Port Byron; 1879, '81, Homer; 1882, '84, Moravia; 1885, '87, Skaneateles; 1888, '89, Jordan; 1890, '92, Marcellus; 1894, '95, Onondaga Valley; 1899, 1900, Cicero.

In his 47th year of unbroken service as a pastor, he retired as a Supernumerary for six years, and a Superannuate until his death. Although never robust, it was found at the close of his active ministry that he had never lost a Sunday by reason of his own sickness.

On retirement, he located at Onondaga Valley, in the Church he had loved and served so well, and died there, Nov. 3, 1909, where his widow, 1914, still resided. He was buried in Homer, N. Y., beside his brothers, Rev's. Wesley and Warren Duane Fox.

Of him it was said at the funeral: "No star ever shed a more lustrous and steady ray than Reuben Cadwell Fox. So constant was his life, and such its fidelity, that like the spheres he could be located in any weather. All that was gentlest and firmest seemed to be united in his genial personality. Friction with him was not a sign of force, but waste, and so his life, even in temperament, and quiet in spirit, moved forward without noise, like those divine forces which open the gates of day without din or confusion, conflict or discord. Of all men least assertive, he nevertheless held the strongest positions of faith and practice. He inherited many of his excellent qualities. From his mother he received a quick and responsive spiritual nature, sensitive as an Aeolian, so that Samuel-like, when others were sleeping in the tabernacle, he heard the divine voice. From his father he inherited a rock-like firmness and integrity, which never bent or wavered, however severe the stress. On his father's side he was descended from Richard Fox, an early settler of Glastonbury, Conn., and of Governor John Webster, one of the founders of the commonwealth of Connecticut and the city of Hartford. On his mother's side he came from Thomas Cadwell, one of the early settlers of Hartford, and Alexander Keeney, of Weathersfield, Conn., honorable names in New England history.

"His death was a triumph of Christian faith. After a severe paroxysm, as he was nearing the end, he said to a friend, "This does not take immortality out of a man. I believe, more than ever, that I am immortal, and that, as we used to sing, 'We're going home to die no more.'"

REV. MELVILLE REUBEN WEBSTER, D. D.

MRS. FRANCES JANET JAY WEBSTER.

MISS FLORENCE MAY WEBSTER AT EIGHT AND SEVENTEEN.

See Pages 146-67.

He represented his Conference in the General Conference of 1900 at Chicago. A pleasing coincidence was the presence, in the same Conference, of his brother, the Rev. Melville R. Webster, a delegate from the Genesee Conference.

Feb. 9, 1903, he underwent a severe surgical operation in the City of Rochester, required by a ruptured gall bladder. Since then he has been relieved and his health improved, although still an invalid.

Residence, 1914, Oriskany Falls, Oneida Co., N. Y. CHILDREN: (All by second mar.) Emily Jane, b. DeRuyter, Madison Co., N. Y., Aug. 3, 1870; Frankie Lucia, b. Pratt's Hollow, Madison Co., N. Y., Nov. 23, 1872, d. at North Manlius, Onondaga Co., N. Y., Feb. 27, 1874; John Burton, b. McGrawville, Cortland Co., N. Y., Oct. 8, 1876, d. Nov. 7, 1878, at Morrisville, Madison Co., N. Y.

Emily Jane Webster, m. Feb. 3, 1903, at Cherry Valley, Otsego Co., N. Y., Fred Woodburn Clark, a "cutter of knit goods," b. May 11, 1877, at Cherry Valley, N. Y., son of George and Nancy (Woodburn) Clark. Res. 1914, Oriskany Falls, N. Y. CHILDREN: (Clark) Earl Delano, b. at Cherry Valley, N. Y., Nov. 30, 1902; Elizabeth Marie, b. at Oriskany Falls, N. Y., June 24, 1906, died in Faxon Hospital, Utica, N. Y., Jan. 22, 1909; buried in Oriskany Falls, N. Y. The end.

2. Rev. Melville Reuben Webster, D.D., b. Feb. 14, 1850, the final author, editor and publisher of "The History and Genealogy of the Gov. John Webster Family of Connecticut," a minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and a member of Genesee Conference, mar. March 23, 1870, in the town of Cayuta, Schuyler Co., N. Y., Frances Janet, dau. of James Burton and Zada Pixley (Fuller) Jay, (but Leonard by adoption) b. Jan. 5, 1848, in the town of Sullivanville, Chemung Co., N. Y.

He was educated in the common schools and Cazenovia Seminary; taught three winters, and entered the ministry at twenty years of age. He was licensed to exhort, Oct. 25, 1868, on the Fabius charge, Central New York Conference, by Rev. Thomas H. Youngman, pastor; licensed to preach, May 29, 1869, same charge, Rev. A. J. Phelps, presiding elder; admitted to Central New York Conference, April 19, 1870; full connection, April 19, 1873; ordained deacon, Northern New York Conference, April 20, 1873, by Bishop Peck; elder, May 2, 1875, by Bishop Scott.

Appointments: 1870-72, Central Square; 1873-75, Brockett's Bridge (now Dolgeville); 1876-78, Frankfort; 1879-81, Little Falls; 1882-84, Watertown, State Street; 1885-87, Oswego, Trinity; 1888-91, Rome, First Church.

Mid-year, Oct. 5, 1891, he was transferred to Genesee Conference and appointed pastor of Rochester First Church, of which he remained pastor five years, the full pastoral term, and was then appointed to Bradford, Pa., First Church, Oct. 9, 1896. After four years he was appointed by Bishop McCabe, Oct. 2, 1900, to the Niagara District, with residence at Niagara Falls. At the end of two years, in response to a popular demand, Bishop Mallalien appointed him, Sep. 30, 1902, presiding elder of Rochester District, in which position he remained the full legal term of six years. Oct. 6, 1903, Bishop Cranston appointed him pastor of Park Church, Hornell, where he remained three years, returning to Rochester as associate pastor of First Church, under appointment of Bishop Berry, Oct. 2, 1911, where he has since remained.

In the Central New York Conference, while yet a Probationer, he was called to the work of a Secretary. The following year, 1873, when by change of boundaries he became a member of Northern New York Conference, he was continued in the same line of service until 1884, when he was elected Chief Secretary, which he held eight consecutive years, until his transfer to Genesee terminated his relations to Northern New York Conference. For several years in the Conference he was Assistant Treasurer of the Gardner Baker Professorship in Syracuse University, doing the clerical work.

In the year 1888 he brought to completion and printed in the Conference minutes, the most elaborate Historical Register of Northern New York Conference, and Black River Conference, its predecessor, that had appeared up to that time. It has served as a model to several since.

The Northern New York Conference honored him with membership in the Ecumenical Methodist Conference which was held in Washington, D. C., Oct. 7-20, 1891.

Syracuse University conferred upon him the honorary degree of Doctor Divinitatis at the Commencement of 1887. At Little Falls, he largely liquidated a crushing Church debt; at State Street, Watertown, repaired and beautified the Church building at a cost of over $6,000; and at Rochester, First Church, built a Sunday School edifice costing over $43,000, preliminary to the erection of the auditorium, the completed plant being one of the most beautiful in the city.

He was admitted to the Sons of the American Revolution, April 11, 1895, his number being New York State, 600; National, 5400. His local membership is with the Rochester Chapter. He was admitted on the services of Ashbel Webster, Samuel Fox and Reuben Cadwell, soldiers from Connecticut. Since admission he has discovered that he is also eligible because of the services of Israel Swetland, also a Connecticut soldier, another ancestor, whose name in the rolls appears as Israel Swetlin. The children of his brother, Seymour Cadwell Webster, may add to the above the services of Gurdon Woodruff and John Cadwell, ancestors of their mother, Alice Luella Woodruff—six in all.

He is a member of Valley Lodge, No. 109, F. and A. Masons, and Hamilton Chapter, No. 62, Royal Arch Masons, both of the City of Rochester.

At this time, 1914, he is President of the following organizations: The Church Insurance Association of the State of New York, second term; Silver Lake Assembly,—“the Summer Chautauqua of the Genesee,” (eighth year); The Methodist Ministers’ Association of Rochester and Vicinity, second year. The Webster Reunion and Pie Nix Association of Western New York, also the second year.

For two terms of four years each he was elected by the General Conferences of 1900 and 1904, a Director in the Insurance Board of the General Conference, having oversight and supervision of Methodist Mutual Insurance Company of Chicago.

Three times he was elected to the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, by Genesee Conference, namely, 1900, held at Chicago; 1904, Los Angeles, 1912, Minneapolis.

He has served continuously as a director in the Church Insurance Association of the State of New York since Nov. 1, 1893; as a Trustee of Genesee Wesleyan Seminary, Lima, N. Y., since October 9, 1894, eleven years of which he was Secretary of the Board; six years as Treasurer of Genesee Conference, from 1894; and has now (1914) entered his thirteenth year as Treasurer of the Permanent Fund of Genesee Conference.

Despite the ceaseless demands upon his time and strength, he has, by the judicious use of all his vacation time, and other opportunities, brought to completion "The History and Genealogy of the Gov. John Webster Family of Connecticut," which is amplified elsewhere.

Residence, 1914, Rochester, N. Y., 149 Earl Street. CHILDREN: Florence May, b. Central Square, Oswego Co., N. Y., April 25, 1871, d. at Rome, Oneida Co., N. Y., April 1, 1890, and is there buried.

Mrs. Mary M. Bingham writing of her (Northern Christian Advocate, June 12, 1890) said: "Her rare Christian character and experience are a study of more than ordinary interest. From her earliest years she enjoyed a consciousness of divine favor. She went with her mother to the table of the Lord as soon as she could walk. She was received on probation in the Church at Little Falls when about nine years of age, and was baptized and received into full connection at the same place, Feb. 20, 1881, being less than ten years of age. She continued to experience an increasing spiritual illumination until her death. . . . She was a deep reader of a wide range of subjects—poetry, literature, science, history, philosophy, metaphysics—and was a close observer and enthusiastic admirer of nature. She had an intense love of art and music. . . . Her last words were, "Yes, I am going, but I will go as slowly as I can." The end.

He supplied a Congregational pulpit at Lebanon, N. Y., three years, during which time, 1887, he united with that denomination. In July, 1891, he withdrew from the ministry and has since pursued business in Syracuse and Buffalo, and in '07, was in the insurance business at Williamsport, Pa. He is now, 1914, engaged in business in Syracuse, N. Y. The end.

3. Aaron Lewis Webster, b. Jan. 3, 1864, a farmer, mar. Aug. 2, 1883, at Alliser, Butler Co., Iowa, Millie Clarinda, dau. of Baldwin D. and Elizabeth Ann (Phelps) Lewis, b. in 1865, at New Hartford, Iowa, where, '94, they resided. The end.

CHAPTER LXXXII.

Other New England Websters.—John of Ipswich,—Thomas of Hampton,—Nicholas of Stamford,—John of Richmond,—Benjamin of Windham,—Thomas of Upton,—Justus of Middletown,—Isaac of South Lee.—Henry of Boston.

New England was prolific in Websters. In addition to the family of Governor John Webster of Connecticut, there were three or four others which dated from early Colonial times. William Holcomb Webster, the original author of this book, gathered Webster material from every part of the United States, and in his printed forms agreed to turn over to any duly authorized historian of other branches the data thus collected whenever it was needed for publication. The late William A. Webster of Springfield, Mass., began work for the John of Ipswich family. After his death, Prof. Stephen P. Sharples, a veteran Genealogist, one of the authors of the Kimball Genealogy, residing at 22 Concord Avenue, Cambridge, Mass., (Business address, 26 Broad St., Boston) took up the work and has carried it forward for many years. From him we have received valuable aid, and to him we have made available the material gathered on various Webster lines, and it is expected that a volume will soon be published by him, covering the Thomas of Hampton family to which the Hon. Daniel Webster, the statesman, belonged, and perhaps others.

The following is a list of New England Websters either wholly unrelated, or the point of union has not been discovered. Only extensive research in English and Scotch records can settle the relationship.

1. THE IPSWICH MASSACHUSETTS, FAMILY. Founded by John Webster who came to this country in 1634. Was born in Ipswich, Suffolk Co., England. Settled in Ipswich, Essex Co., Massachusetts, where he was made a freeman, March 4, 1635. He married Mary Shatswell, a sister of Theophilus Shatswell, Esq. John Webster died at Ipswich in the year 1646. He had eight children as follows: John, born probably in England. He was a blacksmith and settled in Newbury. He m. June 13, 1653, Ann Batt, d. of Nicholas. They had ten children. Israel, another son, b. in England about 1624, settled in Newbury. He m. first, Jan. 3, 1666, or '67, Elizabeth Brown, and second, Nov. 9, 1669, Elizabeth Lunt. One child by first marriage, and four by second. Stephen, another son, a tailor, settled in Haverhill. He m. first, March 24, 1662, Hannah Ayer, and second, May 26, 1678, widow Judith Broad. His six children were all by his first marriage. Nathan, another son, settled in Bradford. He m. Mary Haselkne and had seven children. Hannah, a daughter, m. Michael Emerson, and their dau. Hannah, m. Dec. 3, 1677, Thomas Dustin. This is the Hannah Dustin who slew and scalped ten Indians who had taken her captive, and escaped to her home in Haverhill. She was mother of thirteen children. Mary, another daughter, m. Oct. 29, 1650, John Emery, Jr., of Newbury, and had twelve children. Abigail, a third daughter, may be the Abigail Webster who m. Abraham Merrill of Hartford, Ct., as claimed by some. Sarah, last daughter, given as Elizabeth, by Savage. No history. In 1884, John Ordway Webster, M.D., of Augusta, Me., published a fourteen-page pamphlet covering some of these lines, particularly that of Nathan of Bradford. The descendants of John of Ipswich are very numerous, and a volume giving a full history of the family will be a welcome contribution to Webster Genealogies.

2. THE HAMPTON, MASSACHUSETTS, FAMILY. Founded by Thomas Webster, born in Saint Michael's Parish, Ormsby, Norfolk Co., England, son of Thomas and Margery Webster. His father died and was buried April 30, 1634, and his mother, Margery, married William Godfrey. They removed to America and settled in Watertown, Mass., prior to 1639, and thence went to Hampton, Norfolk Co., then in Massachusetts, afterward in New Hampshire. After the death of William Godfrey, Mch. 25, 1671, his mother married, third, John Merriam. She died at Hampton, May 2, 1687. Thomas Webster was the third son to bear that name, two having died before his birth. He married, Nov. 2, 1657, Sarah Brewer, the daughter of Thomas Brewer of Roxbury, Mass. Webster swore allegiance in February, 1669, and died at Hampton, Jan. 5, 1715, aged 83 years. His children were Mary, b. Dec. 19, 1658, who mar. (1) Oct. 20, 1676, William Swain, and (2) June 12, 1694, Joseph Emmons, "of the Falls church," and was living in 1735. Sarah, b. Jan. 22, 1661, who m. June 21, 1680, William Lane. She d. at Hampton, Jan. 5, 1745. Thomas, b. Jan. 29, 1665, settled in Kingston, N. H., in 1763, where he d. Mch. 7, 1733. His wife was Sarah, said by Bond's History of Watertown to have been his own cousin, a dau. of Wm. Godfrey. She d. Feb. 15, 1718. They had nine children. Ebenezer, b. Aug. 1, 1667, m. July 25, 1709, Hannah Jenkins. He d. Feb. 1, 1736, at Kingston, N. H., where his nine children were born. Isaac, b. Apr. 2, 1670, of Kingston, N. H., m. (1) Apr. 1, 1697, Mary Hutchins, and (2) Sarah Burnham. He d. at Kingston, Feb. 21, 1718. Eight children. John, b. Feb. 16, 1674, was a mariner,—a Captain. His home was Hampton. He m. (1) in September, 1703, Abiah Shaw, and (2) Sarah. He d. 1734. Nine children. Joshua, b. Nov. 8, 1676, probably never married. Abigail, b. Jan. 1, 1679, m. Oct. 23, 1695, James Marden of Newcastle. (See Vol. VII. N. E. Genealogical Register, p. 124, for children.)

One of the nine children of Ebenezer Webster, b. Aug. 1, 1667, and his wife, Hannah Jenkins, was Ebenezer Webster, b. Oct. 16, 1714, who m. Susanah Batchelder. Their son, Ebenezer, b. Apr. 22, 1739, settled in Salisbury, N. H., and was distinguished in the French and Indian war.

He m. (1) Mehitable Smith, and (2) Abigail Eastman. Hon. Daniel Webster, the statesman, b. Jan. 18, 1782, was the son the last named Ebenezer and his wife, Abigail Eastman. Hon. Daniel Webster, died at Marshfield, Mass., Oct. 24, 1852.

3. THE STAMFORD, CONNECTICUT, FAMILY. Nicholas Webster of Stamford, Conn., m. in 1672, Mrs. Sarah Dibble, nee Waterbury, who had been divorced from her former husband, Zachariah Dibble. Assuming that Webster was of full age when he married, his birth was not later than 1650. He died Aug. 12, 1687. His Will was dated July 19, 1687. In it are mentioned his wife Sarah, and his children, John, David and Rachel. The dau. Rachel m. Aug. 18, 1708, Henry Atwood. Jonathan Waterbury, his brother-in-law, was trustee of his estate. With others, Nicholas Webster purchased of the Indians land in the northern part of the town of Stamford, in what afterward became the Parish of Bedford. Later the boundary was changed and it became a part of New York State. It is presumed that the Websters of South Salem, Westchester Co., N. Y., are descendants of Nicholas Webster.

4. THE RICHMOND, RHODE ISLAND, FAMILY. Land records at Westerly, R. I., which at that time included the town of Richmond, show that Nov. 26, 1716, John Webster was given a deed by John Kinyon, his father-in-law, for twenty-five acres on Beaver River. If he were of full age when he was married, then his birth was not later than 1655. His wife was Elizabeth Kinyon. John Webster was the first Town Clerk of the town of Richmond, and in eight consecutive years missed election only one year. He was also a Justice of the Peace and a Representative in the General Assembly (Legislature). He died March 15, 1785. His Will was made in 1776, and a codicil attached in 1777. His children were James, who m. Aug. 17, 1741, Hannah Woodmansee. John, Jr., who m. Dec. 6, 1751, Elizabeth Moshier. Thomas who m. Nov. 17, 1765, Patience Adams. This Thomas Webster mentions in his Will, his wife Patience, his sons Jonathan, and his daughters Patience Kenyon, wife of Remington Kenyon, Eunice Babcock, wife of Benjamin Babcock, and Anner Webster. Hannah who m. Nov. 28, 1736, Ezekiel Barber. Mary who m. Aug. 17, 1741, Joseph Woodmansee. Elizabeth, who m. Jan. 18, 1748, John Kenyon. Six children in all. In the codicil of his Will are mentioned the children of his son James, namely, Stephen, James, John, Daniel, and his daughter-in-law, the widow of James. This widow of her son James removed to Tyngs-ham, Berkshire Co., Mass., as shown by a deed dated 1797, in which she mentions her sons, Stephen, James, John and Daniel. This branch of the family is represented by many descendants in and about Rochester. Milo Franklin Webster of Victor, N. Y., has gathered something of its later history.

One theory of the origin of this Rhode Island family is that they are descendants of James and Mary (Hay) Webster of Boston. James was a Scotchman and Mary an Irish maid. They were married in Boston, Feb. 14, 1658. They had six children, four of whom were sons. One son, James, married Mary and had nine children. One of his daughters, Mary, b. 1686, m. John James, a shipwright, and in 1747, was living in Newport, R. I. A widowed sister of Mary (Webster) James, namely, Abigail Wingate, also settled in Rhode Island. This has led to the conjecture that in some of these families was born the John who settled in Richmond.

5. THE WINDHAM, CONNECTICUT, FAMILY. Benjamin Webster was a member of the church in Windham, Windham Co., Conn., in 1729, as was probably his wife, Ruth. He sold land April 25, 1731, to Elizer Crocker, and purchased other land there Nov. 16, 1731. In the Beverly, Essex Co., Mass., records may be found the following which identifies the place from which they came to Windham, namely: November 8, 1712, Benjamin Webster published to Ruth Gray (intention of marriage). Their children there recorded were Grace, b. August 18, 1713; Martha, b. July 12, 1715; Charity, b. Feb. 26, 1717, and all three were baptised Aug. 18, 1717; Judith, bap. Meh. 8, 1718; Benjamin, bap. July 18, 1725. The time of their removal to Windham, Conn., is closely fixed by the fact that Oct. 25, 1723, Ruth Webster was given a letter of dismissal to the church in Windham. The dau. Grace m. June 11, 1733, William Neff, and had Benjamin, b. May 16, 1734; Ruth, b. May 31, 1737; William, b. May 14, 1739; Thomas, b. July 31, 1744; Martha, b. Oct. 4, 1742; Joseph, b. July 27, 1746.

The Beverly Mass. records also show a William Webster, presumably a brother of Benjamin, who m. Jan. 7, 1715, Susanna Comer, and their children were Susanna, b. Feb. 1, 1717; Elizabeth, bap. Sep. 8, 1717; William, b. Meh. 18, 1719; Lydia, b. Feb. 22, 1722; Benjamin, b. July, year not given; Anna, bap. Aug. 4, 1728; Robert, b. Sep., 1730; John, b. Sep., 1733. The above William Webster of Beverly was a cordwainer, and June 18, 1744, with his wife Susanna sold his house and lot in Beverly. If he and Benjamin were brothers it is surmised that they may have been sons of Benjamin Webster who served in the King Philip war in 1675, and his wife Grace.

6. THE UPTON, MASSACHUSETTS, FAMILY. Thomas Webster of Upton, Worcester Co., Mass., "yeoman," was born about 1725, and may have been the Thomas Webster of Grafton, who was in the French and Indian war, Aug. 16, 1757. In 1750 Thomas Webster and wife Elizabeth were warned out of Upton. His first wife was Elizabeth, and all his children were by this marriage. He m. (2) Mehitable Clemons. July 4, 1768, Thomas Webster, "husbandman," of Upton, buys land there of Timothy Aldrich of Upton. In his Will dated April 11, 1788, and probated Feb. 1, 1803, he mentions his wife Elizabeth (not his first wife), his sons Benjamin, David, Thomas, Jonathan, Samuel, and daughters Mehitable and Elizabeth. (Both died unmarried.) The son Benjamin m. a Hall and settled in Providence, R. I. Had no children. The son David appears to have died unmarried, as the brothers and sisters unite in deeds in 1812 and 1814 conveying their right and title to real estate that their brother David "died seized on." Thomas, Jr. b. Feb. 16, 1766, lived in Upton, was married and had five children. He d. July 21, 1856, aged 90-5-5. Jonathan, a Baptist Lay Preacher, b. Oct. 9, 1750, m. at Dudley, Mass., Nov. 17, 1776, Martha Carpenter, b. Sep. 18, 1755, probably in R. I., dau. of Joseph and Mary (Nason) Carpenter. They lived in Sutton, Mass., where their four children were born. Samuel, b. Aug. 14, 1757, m. (1) at Oxford, Mass., May 1, 1779, Lucy Warren of Dudley, Mass. She d. Apr. 28, 1804, at Orwell, Addison Co., Vt. He m. (2) Hannah Beebe. He was Baptist minister; went to the Holland Purchase in Western New York, and died at Warsaw, N. Y., Mch. 27, 1820. Six children.

7. THE MIDDLETOWN, CONNECTICUT, FAMILY. Justus Webster of Middletown, Conn., married Sarah Talcott, b. Sep. 1, 1741, at Durham, Conn., dau. of John and Sarah (Parsons) Talcott. Her father, John Talcott, was born in Durham, Nov. 26, 1712, and was the son of Hezekiah Talcott, a native of Hartford from which he removed to Durham soon after 1706, and was one of the original proprietors. Their children were Sarah, b. Sep. 26, 1762; Rhoady, c. July 6, 1764; Justus, b. Sep. 1, 1766; Eunice, b. June 22, 1769; Samuel, b. Mch. 31, 1772. It has been assumed that in developing the history of the Governor John Webster family a place for the above Justus would be found. If he were of full age at marriage the date of his birth would be about 1740. The record of his descendants is quite complete and would have been included in this History and Genealogy if a point of union had been found. If further research reveals the family line, and it is shown that it belongs to the Governor John Webster family, it will be published in future editions.

8. THE SOUTH LEE, MASSACHUSETTS, FAMILY. Isaac Webster, b. Jan. 13, 1781, at West Hartford, Conn., said to have been the son of Isaac, m. at Lee, Mass., Sep. 30, 1801 (another says they were married at Hartford, Vt.), Sylvia Barlow. Her father owned a farm at Grove Pond in Lee, and was instantly killed while sitting in his own doorway by a falling tree blown over by the wind. Their children were Henry, usually called Harry, b. June 22, 1802, at Lee, Mass.; Abi Sedgwick, Apr. 26, 1804; Wells Ebenezer, Feb. 16, 1806; Mary Amey, b. Mch. 1, 1808; Sylvia Adeline, b. Feb. 12, 1810; Isaac Barlow, b. July 20, 1816; Jason Samuel, b. June 11, 1819. Several descendants of this family are now living in and about Hartford, Conn., and the presumption seems clear from all the traditions in the family that they belong to the Governor John Webster family, but the identification has not been made. Should it be shown that they belong in this Genealogy a place will be accorded in future editions.

9. AN EXTINCT BOSTON FAMILY. Henry Webster came to Boston, April 15, 1679. He was the son of John Webster, of Barbadoes. Henry Webster's wife was Esther, and they had a son John, b. Sep. 23, 1658, who m. Mary Smith and had a son Grant who was graduated from Harvard in 1736. They also had a son Redford who m. Hannah White of Watertown, Mass. Their son, Redford had a son, John W(hite) Webster who was a Professor in Harvard. He left no descendants of the name of Webster, and Prof. Sharples is authority for the statement that the line is extinct.

The above list shows something of the field yet to be covered in accounting for all of the New England Websters, and other fragments might be added. But they cannot be considered here. Perhaps this outline may stimulate the spirit of inquiry.

INDEXES.

1. INDEX OF FAMILIES GROUPED BY CHAPTERS.

At the head of each Chapter is placed conspicuously the name of a Webster ancestor. The following Index contains their names, alphabetically arranged. The ancestral line is indicated by the name Robert or Thomas. The number of the Chapter is also given, and the pages included within the Chapter. II. INDEX OF WEBSTERS.

The names of those who died in infancy or early childhood do not appear in the Index. The abbreviations used are s. for son, d. for daughter. The final figures, after each name, refer to the page or pages, and those next to the name, if any, to the year of birth. Names exactly alike are not repeated, but form a paragraph introduced by the name common to all in the paragraph.
